RM NASTT is a non-profit organization organized in 2009 to serve as a regional chapter of NASTT (www.nastt.org). The Rocky Mountain Chapter serves the states of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming for the purpose of promoting education and development of trenchless technology for the public benefit. The conference and course are both useful to public officials, engineers, utility company personnel, designers, consultants and contractors who are involved or interested in constructing, rehabilitating and managing underground utilities. Continuing education and training units will be provided to conference attendees.
