

We have been waiting 300 years for this
And now it's here!

Our Tricentennial

Here's how we are celebrating

Walking tour of Olde Marblehead

Go with Marblehead historian Judy Anderson as she takes us on a tour bringing to life the early development of Marblehead from Burial Hill to UUCM

1 pm Saturday October 3 2015, 4 pm Sunday October 4, 12 noon Saturday October 17, noon Sunday October 18
(starting at UUCM)

Opening time capsule

Be present as Rev Charles Wilson presides over a ceremonial opening of the time capsule placed in the building cornerstone in 1991 – when he presided over its placement.

Noon Sunday October 11 2015

Cookbook deadline for recipes

Submit your favorite recipes for a Tricentennial cookbook on-line via www.typensave.com. Login with user id: Zelda39, password: eggs764

Deadline Monday October 12 2015

Pot Luck Timeline Dinner

Bring a dish and join others to reminisce over congregational events

Saturday November 14 2015, time to be announced

Meetinghouse Series event

Hear Harvard Divinity School Professor David Hall, Bartlett Research Professor, speak about Rev Edward Holyoke – our minister in the early 1800s.

7 pm Wednesday November 18 2015

We have been waiting 300 years for this
And now it's here!

Interfaith Thanksgiving Service

Join Marblehead's Interfaith clergy in a celebration of gratitude at UUCM with a few special touches connecting us to our Tricentennial!

7 pm Tuesday, November 3 2015

Red Bow Fair

Purchase Tricentennial memorabilia

Saturday December 5 2015

Colonial Dinner

Join together for a meal with recipes from the 1700s

Noon Sunday February 7 2016

Stetson Gallery Exhibit

See pictures, text, and relics from through the years

All month March 2016

GALA CELEBRATION

Be part of the ceremony as neighboring ministers, town officials & other dignitaries wish us well on our 300th anniversary. Jim Key, UUA moderator, will be the keynote speaker

3 pm Sunday April 3 2016

Meetinghouse Series event

Hear famed Marblehead story teller Judith Black relate a story of our beginnings

April (date to be announced)

Replace Time Capsule

Join us as we return the Time Capsule to the cornerstone.

Sunday April (date to be announced)