

1. Nicknamed Muttnick in the U.S., the martyred space pooch launched by the Soviets in 1957 was actually named:

c) Laika

<http://www.natureworldnews.com/articles/10069/20141104/remembering-laika-muttnik-space-dog.htm>

2. People in China say hello in a variety of ways. A common greeting among older Chinese is to ask, chī le ma? This means:

d) Have you eaten yet?

<http://traditions.cultural-china.com/en/214Traditions12281.html>

3. General Andrew McAuliffe immortalized himself and the following English word in Bastogne, Belgium during the Battle of the Bulge:

d) Nuts!

<http://www.thethayerhotel.com/Accommodations/Room-Dedication-Program/M-P/McAuliffe>