

1. In French-speaking locations, les heures d'affluence refers to:

a) rush hour

<http://www.collinsdictionary.com/dictionary/french-english/heures-d-affluence>

2. The 14th century English word fewmet derives from an Anglo-Norman French variant of Old French fumées. It refers to:

a) animal droppings

<http://www.worldwidewords.org/weirdwords/ww-few1.htm>

3. Norwegian omelette is another name for:

d) Baked Alaska

<http://whatscookingamerica.net/History/IceCream/BakedAlaska.htm>