

Trauma-Informed Approaches:

Creating a Culture
of CARE

When registering, be sure to inquire about the New Vitae clinical and residential program/facility tours available before and after the program. Tours will be held at noon and 3:00pm

Joseph F. Foderaro, LCSW, BCD

Clinician, lecturer, consultant, co-founder of the Sanctuary Programs, and co-author of S.E.L.F.: A Trauma-Informed Psychoeducational Group Curriculum

Thursday, April 16, 2015

Registration & Light Refreshments: 12:30 – 1:00pm

Program: 1:00 – 3:00pm

Healing can occur when groups, organizations and communities are aware of and practice trauma-informed care. Regardless of one's position within an organization (treatment professional, administrator, support personnel, educator, etc), every member of the community of care contributes to the culture of safety. Learn how service providers, organizations and systems can inadvertently trigger trauma reactions and what you can do to prevent this on individual and organizational levels. The information shared about trauma and its impact is designed for behavioral health, social services, child welfare, criminal justice, education and medical professionals, a well as interested community members.

* 2.0 CEUs (approval pending) are available for Social Workers, Personal Care Home Administrators, Marriage and Family Therapists and Professional Counselors

Location: West End Fire Company
1319 Park Avenue
Quakertown, PA 18951

*Cost: FREE to attend, $25 fee for those seeking CEUs (or just $15 for NASW members)

RSVP to: Tracy Semmel at 610-965-9021, ext. 221 or tsemmel@tcrespite.com by Monday, April 13; when registering, please indicate your interest in receiving CEU's for your participation, and joining one of the tours referenced above.

CO-SPONSORED BY:

