

2015 CAMPS Manufacturing Conference
Driving Innovation for Results
“Connecting Innovations, Technologies, and Visions for Global Markets”

May 28, 2015
The Museum of Flight
9404 E. Marginal Way South
Seattle 98108

Join us for a full day on how to make innovation become a reality. We have two very powerful keynote sessions.

Breakfast Keynote

Nytec Corporation

How to make Innovation successful? –Discover, Envision, Refine, and Realization

We will begin the day with a breakfast session that will show how to partner with a leader who represents an end-to-end design and development experience and processes to guide clients from a napkin sketch through to full production. Nytec focuses on the end-to-end product design and engineering experience. This includes a four stage process of the product development cycle, bringing products to life through the Discover and Envision phases, and honing concepts to allow seamless transitions into manufacturing. This is followed by a Refine phase to guide projects through any technical challenges, build test equipment for manufacturing and collaborate with clients and partners to Realize the product through manufacturing.

Lunch Keynote

Tableau Software - Elissa Fink, CMO

Why Data Matters - Using Data Analytics to Achieve Competitive Advantage

In 2020 the world will generate 50 times the amount of data as in 2011-- but how do we as manufacturers collect and use this data to drive innovation? Elissa Fink, Chief Marketing Officer at Tableau Software, an award winning Seattle-based data analytics software company, will share what big data and data visualization mean to manufacturers and why manufacturers need data-driven processes to innovate and compete in the global economy. Tableau Software is a leader in the data analytics and visualization industry and considered one of the top three data visualization software companies in the world.

Breakout sessions

1. Internet of things – Bill Hill – Western Integrated Technologies
2. Disruptive Next Generation Additive Manufacturing Processes – Steve Kidd - CimTech
3. Protecting Your Innovations - Identifying and protecting intellectual properties – Equinox Business Law Group

Executive Breakfast

Unionization: Are You Vulnerable?

Washington is the 4th largest unionized state in the nation. Where you may have historically felt immune to union activity, new federal rules and recent National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) case rulings should have you asking:

How vulnerable are we to unionization?

Recently, the NLRB adopted new rules designed to expedite the union election process. Unionization just got easier (especially for manufacturers, non-profits, healthcare providers, and retailers).

Please join other business leaders for an Executive Breakfast to learn more about the changing landscape of unionization, including:

- An overview of recent NLRB cases and rules that make unionizing easier, including an overview of the NLRB ambush election rules effective April 15, 2015
- Current union activity climate in the Northwest
- How employers unknowingly trigger unionization efforts
- Early warning signs of unionization
- Business cultures well-suited to deflect unionization
- A 32-point analysis aimed at assessing your company's vulnerability

Presented by Archbright™ experts:

- Kellis Borek, Vice President, Labor & Legal Services and General Counsel
- Joseph Marth, PhD, Vice President, Business Solutions
- Susan Brandt, Director of HR Solutions

JOURNEY TO OPERATIONAL EXCELLENCE

CWU Supply Chain Management Institute 2015 Summit
Museum of Flight
Thursday, May 7, 2015,
10:00 AM – 4:30 PM

Sponsored by The Boeing Company

Businesses, Governments, Not-for-Profit organizations, organizations of all types are continually looking to improve operations and service performance. Their approaches frequently draw from lean and quality management techniques employed separately or as part of a broader improvement philosophy.

Whatever the technique, organizations moving toward operational excellence embrace that it is a never-ending pursuit that relies on leadership, engagement and the continual development of persons on the front-line and in management. Operational excellence requires attention to the journey. Keynote speakers and panelists for this year's summit bring decades of experience developing the teams and support systems that contribute to ongoing success.

Join us as we explore the path forward!
