

How grateful we are for each and every one of you!

This is the season of giving thanks.

The first reading for Thanksgiving Day comes from Deuteronomy. It is a charge to ancient Israel to take some of the first fruits of harvest and offer them back to God as a tithe and offering, some of which will be used for the poor. When you come into the land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance and have taken possession of it and live in it, you shall take some of the first of all the fruit of the ground, which you harvest from your land that the LORD your God is giving you, and you shall put it in a basket, and you shall go to the place that the LORD your God will choose, to make his name to dwell there. (Deuteronomy 26. 1 - 2)

Our thanks this month is not limited to just the first fruits of the harvest, the blessings of our lives and labors. As we look back at the month of October, we are also filled with thanks for one another. The generosity of this parish in gifts of service, of time and energy, is quite staggering and we want to lift up these offerings, too

Of course, every time we try to acknowledge people in the parish we accidentally omit someone. But that fear and possibility should not deter us. So if you read the list and find your name has been unintentionally omitted, please, do not be offended! Trust, instead, in our good will and purpose, forgive the omission and let us know.

In the very first words that St. Paul wrote in his letter to the Philippians, he was giving thanks for the people of the church. I give thanks for each and every one of you!

Ministry to, for and by Our Children...

All Saints Episcopal Church Children Recognize Park Staff with Gift of Service.

Our littlest Saints were alive and all smiles on Saturday, October 20 at Panther Creek State Park, for the annual Heritage Day event. Heritage Day, a celebration of the park, and park history, was in full swing when we arrived. Bunnies, a really beautiful rooster, and a Shetland pony were the first of the attractions and activities that caught the attention of the K-5th grade group. Then it was onto face-painting, Halloween crafts, marshmallow roasting, hot chocolate, and finally a hayride around the park. Heritage Day activities ended at three, which for the All Saints crew, meant it was time to get busy.

"One of the ways we can know that God loves us, is to actually see how God takes care of us by inspiring people, like park rangers, to take care for the beautiful world given to us. The people that work at the park are the "shepherds of the forest", Candy Durman explained as the group got going.

The photos and park history display showed generations of folks who answered the call of stewardship, and worked to preserve and care for the wild places--places where it is so easy to profoundly experience the divine nature of God. The children were given an opportunity to make thank-you cards for the park staff honoring this service for all of us. Then out came the brooms and trash bags, as our little Saints cleaned the entire Campground Pavilion, where the event was held. Many stayed long after to enjoy the fall colors, crisp air, and sunshine. We thanked God for day, and all the people in it.

Our High School Students provide service...

The project: Remove all these porch boards.

Hank Selby prys up old wood with a crowbar.

It took 102 of these boards to replace those we removed.

Alyssa already knows how to do this! Her dad, Michael, says that girls should be able to do this, too!

Caleb Anderson and Tyler Gamble gave of their time to help us. Caleb is going into the Air Force in February.

We were unable to complete staining the porch in October. We have set aside two weather dates in November to make certain the porch is completed.

See you high school students on Nov. 10 or Nov 17

Adult Forum

Please mark your calendars to attend the Adult Forum Series on Stained Glass. The forums will be held on three Sundays in November in the Parish Hall beginning promptly at 9:15am and ending about 10am.

The first session, "Glimpses of God through Stained Glass" is on November the 11th. Carolyn Dean will present a slide presentation of the All Saints' window and other windows of its kind around the globe. She will be talking about stained glass as both an art form and as a way that we apprehend the mystery of God. Carolyn is also preparing a photograph of the All Saints' window in great definition for sale. Proceeds over expenses will be donated to the church. You won't want to miss this presentation.

The second presentation, "Reading the Messages in Our Stained Glass" is on November 18th. Sarah Gose invites us into the world and meaning of stained glass around the church. Sarah, who has attended All Saint's all her life, will speak to us about the Life of Christ windows that encircle the Nave. She will talk about the Trinity Window, and the windows from the old church that are positioned behind the organ. Sarah's presentation is not just about the stories in the glass; it is also about the people whose names are attached to these windows.

The last session in the series is on November 26. Jack Fishman will tell the story of how our primary window, the "Te Deum" window also known as "The All Saints' Window", came about from inception to completion. Knowing the history of the window makes it even more special.

Worship Notes

ST MARTIN OF TOURS
PATRON SAINT OF SOLDIERS
FEAST DAY: November 11

Veterans Day or Armistice Day is not a day without relevance to the Church. For centuries, November 11 was celebrated throughout the Christian world as the Feast of St. Martin of Tour, patron saint of soldiers. Do you remember some of the words to the hymn we sang on All Saints' Day? "And one was a soldier and one was a priest and one was slain by a fierce, wild beast?" St. Martin is the saint we recall being "the soldier!"

There are many stories told about St. Martin and they can be easily found online, but one of the most remembered is the story of how this soldier met a beggar and cut his outer, woolen cloak in half and gave it to the beggar to keep warm. Many churches that bear the name of St. Martin use this example as part of their identity and seek to give half or 50% of their income to those in need.

This is also the nature of the training and the call to integrity that our soldiers receive. Although prepared and battle ready, the integrity of the soldier is best shown as he or she moves through peaceful encounters with civilians.

It is fitting that we remember our veterans and the service to this country and to the world and we will do that as a parish on Sunday, Nov. 11, 2012.

The Outreach Committee has already begun collecting articles to create shoebox care packages for our troops in Afghanistan. You will find information about that as well as a contribution list in another section of this newsletter. This project begins about 12:15 in the parish hall and lasts as long as it needs to last.

The local Veterans' Day Parade gathers for line up at 1:30 at the Elks Lodge. The actual parade begins at 2:30PM.

At 4:30PM, we will gather in the church for an Evening Prayer service. This service of music, readings, prayers and a homily will be of the type that we experienced during the Preaching-Teaching Mission in August. There will be no service bulletin. We will project readings, music and images on the wall behind the altar. Readers will be seated. The lessons will be those associated with the Feast of St. Martin.

We are opening this service to the public and we hope that parishioners will invite veterans to come to the service, in uniform, if desired.

Why are we doing this service in the afternoon and not in the morning as the principal service?

The Book of Common Prayer prescribes the Sundays of the church year according to the liturgical calendar and that takes precedence.

If you notice, our tradition does not set aside principal services on Sunday for Mother's Day or Father's Day. You probably remember that we had a special evening service commemorating the 10th anniversary of September 11.

Veteran's Day, Memorial Day, Labor Day, Independence Day and Thanksgiving Day also fall into this category. That is why Episcopalians find other ways in which to acknowledge the importance and place of important days in our national history, sometimes with picnics or dinners or other kinds of gatherings.

We respect very deeply the service our men and women in uniform provide for us and we honor them in this way.

TECHNOLOGY: The iPads have arrived! The fourth and fifth grade iPad pilot program is off to a wonderful start. Thanks to the LRPC initiative, students are learning how much they can do and learn with these amazing devices. Mrs. Dickens and Mrs. Korody are extremely excited after their visit to Webb School in Knoxville. They got some hands on training and ideas about teaching with iPads. The fifth graders are using them to write and illustrate character sketches for the novel Maniac Magee. Both the fourth and fifth grades have used the iPads for centers and are engaging in their search of knowledge with renewed interest. Feel free to pop in and visit these classes. It is a wonderful glimpse into what many future classrooms will look like!

THE STUDENT HONOR COUNCIL AND THE PTSO

teamed up for a Halloween Dance. UNICEF will receive the proceeds from the dance (after expenses). The Student Honor Council also sponsored - Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF. Classes collected donations through October 31.

EARLY LEARNING CENTER:

The ELC welcomed Lynn McCoy, a wildlife rehabilitator. Lynn explained that she takes care of animals that are orphans or have been injured. She takes care of 600-800 animals each year until they are able to live on their own again. Lynn keeps those animals that cannot be returned to the wild. The ELC students were introduced to seven of her very special animals who are her program ambassadors: Buzz Saw, a little screech owl, was hit by a car when swooping down on the road to catch a mouse. As a result of the accident, Buzz Saw has a broken wing and is deaf on one side. Lynn walked around with Buzz Saw perched on her hand tethered to a short leash. There was Corby the Crow, Pockets the Ground Hog, Torty the Tortoise, and Cuddles the Snake!

ANGELS FOR HOPE—On Tuesday October 2, students from several grades, presented Dr. Susan Huntsinger, Angels for Hope founder, more than 135 fabric squares (muslins) as part of the UT cancer care project. The students' art work will be sewn onto pillowcases by the organization, "Angels for Hope". These beautiful pillowcases will then become part of gift baskets given to cancer patients in the Morristown and Knoxville areas.

The ASES Annual Report is now available. It is a yearly snapshot of the progress of the school. The Development Office collected and compiled data wrote articles and designed and formatted the report. The facts and figures contained herein are the result of 12 months of hard work, on events like the Auction, Masters Golf Tournament and the Capital Campaign. Much of the fundraising was completed by volunteers. The report is available online. To download your very own copy go to the ASES web site, www.allsaintsepiscopal.school.org then click on "Ways to Give" and view the 2011-2012 Annual Report.

ASES SHOWCASE: On October 21, ASES hosted its second Showcase, an open house for current and perspective parents. The big hit of the afternoon was Ms. Selby's Third grade religion class. Dressed as Old Testament characters, the children waited for visitors to their museum to push "the button" before they told their story. In addition the Singing Saints and the Middle School Choir performed while visitors and parents beamed. The finale of the event was a rousing basketball game with parents, kids, alumni, and faculty!

PUMPKIN PATCH PRODUCE...

The first and second grades picked prodigious pumpkins from the ASES pumpkin patch. The first grade also wrote and illustrated a story of their experience using their very best penmanship! Please stop by the first grade classroom to peruse the penmanship of these productive pupils.

THE FOURTH AND FIFTH GRADES

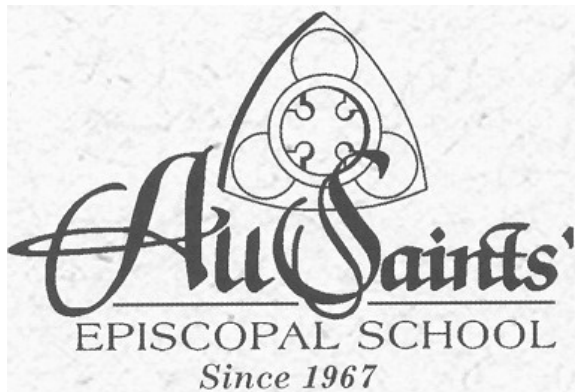

had an amazing trip to Space Camp on October 1, 2 and 3. The group of 46 was divided into three teams. Each team spent three days training in some of the ways that astronauts train. Students planned missions as astronauts in a mock space shuttle, international space station and at mission control. They used math and science skills to build and launch rockets and got to experience "walking on the moon." The multi-axis trainer really had everyone spinning! All three of the teams received praise for being the best groups their trainers had ever worked with. Mrs. Dickens and Mrs. Korody are extremely proud of our children. If you would like to see the young astronauts at work, we have displayed pictures outside the fourth and fifth grade classrooms. You can also view the mission patches that each group created.

THE 2012 ASES FALL BALL— "Moonlight Memories" was held on Friday November 2, 2012, 6:30 PM. Chairs Renee Siddiqi and Anne Sheedlo organized a truly spectacular evening with old and new friends alike. More on this event in the next newsletter.

To find out more about the school, to arrange a tour and to make a contribution, contact Geoff Campbell.
