To collectively leverage resources and expertise for the care of the mountain in a more seamless and strategic manner, the four public agencies responsible for Mt. Tam (California State Parks, Marin County Parks, Marin Municipal Water District, and the National Park Service) have teamed with the nonprofit Golden Gate National Parks Conservancy to form the Tamalpais Lands Collaborative. The TLC is not a new agency or governing body. All projects and programs proposed for TLC support are subject to review (including environmental compliance), and approval through the existing processes of the partner agencies.
