Mixed Media Work
(Aluminum soda cans)

Up-cycled Art

My path has taken me from my hometown of Caracas, Venezuela to Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where I opened Art Expressions Gallery in 2002.

Attempting to share my commitment to a greener planet, recycling and reuse are an ongoing theme in my works. In the process of growing and evolving, I found myself to exploring the parameters of pop art and making recycled aluminum can my main media. My art reflects an expressive emotional response to my present being and a projection of the future. As a creator of art, I manipulate and incorporate aluminum soda cans and apply texture onto the surface out of a necessity to transfer an internal emotion into an external form. My work projects a holographic-life feel because the embossing and distressing techniques applied to the metal. Color, shapes, patterns and textures are my language, they speak to me. Playful, provocative and always eye-catching, my art and unique choice of medium make a powerful statement.
