2013-2014

SEASON

"Our parents understand the right brain stimulation of the arts for their children. They also understand that the testing back of information as performed in schools is not facilitating critical thinking skills, whereas the Ruhala Learning Method is based in the child/student thinking independently, developing strong, smart opinions, and expressing feeling with articulation and eloquence. Children gain an advantage for the real world by experiencing this standard, and succeed better in school because of it".

Mark Ruhala, Artistic Director
