

INTENSIVE REVIEW PROGRAM

Enroll in an IRP Today!

You've studied long and hard, and now passing your exam is the next step on the way to earning your designation. Intensive Review Programs (IRPs) from The American College of Financial Services are designed to help students pass their exam by reviewing in detail all major concepts and learning objectives presented within a course. During the review, students will be able to ask direct questions to top subject matter experts.

Taking an IRP is an excellent supplement to your education, but remember, it is not a replacement for study time. Students are expected to come to their IRP with an understanding of the course material. At the completion of the IRP session, a paper-and-pencil exam will be administered on-site – there is no need to make a separate appointment at a testing center. IRPs are a great way to review your coursework in a structured, live-classroom format!
