What is KYPCC?

With the support of the Kentucky Office of Inspector General and CMS, the Kent School of Social Work at the University of Louisville has established the Kentucky Person-Centered Program for Long-Term Care.

The Kentucky Person-Centered Care Program for Long-Term Care (KYPCC) seeks to increase and improve Person-Centered Care for long-term care residents in Kentucky through the engagement of all stakeholders, including LTC facilities, Surveyor staff, Families and Residents.

By creating a culture change movement, the quality of care and quality of life can improve for the most vulnerable members of our communities.

Free Regional KYPCC Conferences

The project will offer four 2-day Regional PCC Conferences across the state.

FREE registration will be available for up to three (3) LTC representatives from each certified long-term care facility.

At least one CNA must attend for a facility to qualify for free registration.

All conferences begin each day at 7:30 AM with breakfast and registration. Conferences conclude at 5:00 PM each day.

Conference speakers will include the Pioneer Network, Carmen Bowman, a Geriatric Pharmacist, University of Louisville Geriatrician, the Alzheimer's Association, Barbara Frank and more.

Topics will include:

- Principles of Person-Centered Care
- Changing Institutional Culture with Little Money & Worry about Regulation
- Change the Culture of Care Planning: A Person-Directed Approach
- Real World Approaches to Creating High Quality Individualized Care for Elders.

Conference participants will receive 2 days of free training, meals (breakfast & lunch) and breaks each day. Conference lodging will be available at a reduced rate. FREE CEs for Nursing and LTC Administrators will be provided by LeadingAge Kentucky.

Family members and residents are also invited to attend a Family and Resident Education track on Day Two at each location.

Each facility will complete a Person-Centered Care Action Plan using the QAPI Action Planning Process and learn how to complete the Artifacts of Culture Change survey back at the facility.

All conference facilities are non-smoking.
