

Summer Spruce-Up Time

Although classes are out for the summer, activity at KDS is in full swing with spruce ups and maintenance projects that must be tackled when school is not in session. The custodians, maintenance staff and students employed by the summer work scholarship program are busy cleaning, waxing, renovating, painting, repairing, mowing, and much more. The sounds of lawn mowers, weed trimmers, electric drills and saws, and the smell of paint and cleaning products are ever-present at KDS during the summer months, all in anticipation of another school year starting in mid-August.

The demolition of the dugouts and fences at the baseball field were begun by the maintenance staff in late June.

The finish on the gym floor of the Burkey Center was sanded down to the bare wood and refinished with a new paint scheme and lines.

The grounds keeping crews mow, weed and trim every day that weather permits.

The ramp that makes the playground handicapped accessible is being rerouted and upgraded with boards that won't have splinters or need painting.
