December Webcast Focus “Developmental Science and Child Welfare: Moving Towards a More Child-Centered Court Improvement Practice Model – Visitation in the middle of a case

Thursday, December 17th, 2015
12:00 – 1:00 PM Pacific

Presented by: Charles H. Zeanah, M.D., Institute of Infant and Early Childhood Mental Health, Tulane University School of Medicine and Judge Frank Sullivan, Clark County Family Courts.

The first session in October reviewed a visitation at the beginning of a case. Also reviewed basic development of attachment and the factors affecting quality care. This next session will focus on visitation in the middle of a case. Many factors may influence decision-making in child welfare, but we believe an important and underutilized source of information is what we know from developmental science about what is helpful and harmful to children's development. Future session will consider implications for protective settings for placement, for transitions from one placement to the next, and for sibling placement.

Our next webcast is scheduled for January 21st, 2015 from 12:00 – 1:00 PM.
