

Professor & Mrs. Allen Fuhs CSUMB-KQED Scholarship in Science Media Communication

Dr. Fuhs believes in the importance of clearly communicating science concepts to the general public. To that end, he is providing a CSUMB student with a one year $10,000 scholarship and a paid summer internship in science communication at KQED Public Media in San Francisco.

Applications are being accepted now beginning with the 2016 summer internship and the academic year beginning Fall 2016.

Selection Criteria:

1. Junior, Senior or Graduate student status by Summer 2016.
2. Declared Science Major in the College of Science.
3. Demonstrated interest in science communication and journalism.
4. In good academic standing with a GPA of 3.0 or higher.

To apply, students meeting the criteria will be required to provide:

1. A one-page essay identifying their career interests in connection with science communication.
2. The name of a science faculty, who knows the student's work, is informed of the student's interest in the scholarship and internship and will recommend them for this award.

See second page for application.

Deadline for submission is October 26, 2015.

Applications also available in Dean's office or online at csumb.edu/sep.

*Go to KQED.org/Science for the work being done by student interns.

Allen Fuhs, Ph.D., is a Distinguished Professor Emeritus at the Naval Postgraduate School, where he chaired the mechanical engineering and aeronautics departments. Among his achievements, Fuhs was an Honorary Fellow of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, one of the most prestigious honors in aerospace.

