

New Hire Worcester Jobs Fund

The CMWIB, which serves as the Administrative home for the Worcester Jobs Fund, is pleased to announce the hiring of Ms. Kelsey Lamoureux as the Worcester Jobs Fund director. The Selection process was led by the City of Worcester's Executive Office of Economic Development and included input from the CMWIB, Workforce Central Career Center, and the Worcester Jobs fund oversight committee chairperson, Leonard Cooper. Jeffrey Turgeon the CMWIB's Executive Director, says, "We are very happy to have Kelsey on board, she brings a wealth of experience and a strong range of talents to this important project." Kelsey has experience in Workforce development both domestically and abroad, having previously worked as a Special Projects Coordinator for the Worcester Community Action Council and as a youth development volunteer with the Peace Corps in Morocco. She is from Auburn, Massachusetts and now resides in Worcester.
