General Information

Keynote Presentation

Scott Richards, MCSE, MCSA

Scott Richards serves as Purdue Healthcare Advisors' Associate Advisor-Security, where he uses his gift of being able to easily explain technology to non-technical people. In this role, Richards guides physicians, dentists and their practice managers to select computers and handheld device that best suit the needs of each particular practice. He also works with hospitals, practices and clinics to ensure their technology is HIPAA compliant. Richards is certified on all major computers (i.e. Apple, HP, Acer, Asus, Dell, etc.) and also holds A+, CCNP, MCDST, and MCSA certifications. Although Richards can program in Java, C, C++ and Visual Basic, he specializes in mobile technologies. He believes that, since he started his career in computer technology in 1986, he has "tested every computer tablet and handheld device going back to the Apple Newton." Richards has helped develop applications for Palm, Microsoft and Apple handheld devices; written numerous reviews on them; and presented about the devices at more than 50 seminars.

Educational Program

#1 Mobile Security for the Non-IT Professional (B)

SCOTT RICHARDS, MCSE, MCSA

This session will cover phone, laptop and tablet security. It is a fun, fast-paced class that shows the past and future of mobile devices and explains why these devices need to be secured.

#2 Multipliers - Generations in the Workplace (B)

JILL GERMAN, VP Roche Centralized Diagnostics

Leaders who lead through the Multipliers approach bring out the genius in others - and we all have genius! The approach for Multipliers is different from other leadership development experiences. This session, a leadership laboratory, will allow you to experiment with your own challenges, assumptions, and questions, to see what you can discover about Multiplier leadership.

Sponsored by Roche Diagnostics

Educational Program

- #3 Microbiology Laboratory Automation (B)
JIM CLARK, MS(ASCP) & DALE R KAHN, MT(ASCP)
PCL Alverno was the first laboratory in the United States to implement full robotic microbiology automation. In this session, you will learn how automation was implemented in a phased approach. We will discuss component selections, reasons for the selections, how each component was validated, and a review of lean layout design.
Sponsored by Alverno
- #4 Healthcare Reform - Status Check for Individuals and Laboratories (I)
PAUL LABBE, ASCP(NM)
The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act have been the law of the land since March of 2010, yet debate continues. Five years into the implementation of this significant legislation, has it achieved the original objectives? This presentation will give an overview of the history of the PPACA, how it has affected healthcare statistics, and future projections and impact on clinical laboratories.
- #5 Effective Monitoring of Heparin Therapy with Anti-Xa (I)
JUDY JORGENSEN, MT(ASCP)
Heparin is very useful in many situations, though the use of it as an anticoagulant has many associated risks, therefore monitoring is necessary. As technology has improved, methods of monitoring these patients have changed. This session discusses the newest methods. Learn how your laboratory can improve patient care, while simplifying the monitoring process.
Sponsored by Instrumentation Lab
- #6 What Concerns You Most in Laboratory Medicine? (I)
PATTY ESCHLIMAN, MHA,MLS(ASCP)^{CM}DLM^{CM}, ADRIENNE HATTON, MSM, MT(ASCP), BOB KING,MS, BS, & LORRAINE SWITZER, BS
What keeps you up at night? Do you have concerns about the future of your laboratory? How are you planning to overcome the changes in healthcare that are rapidly approaching? Join our panel of experts as they answer your questions and discuss many of the issues and changes we are seeing in healthcare today.
Sponsored by Columbus Regional Health, Indiana State Department of Health & The Medical Foundation

Educational Program

- #7 What's Your Type? Solving ABO Discrepancies (I)
JUDI SEIDEL, MT(ASCP)SBB
ABO discrepancies can cause delays in the Blood Bank, which in turn may delay a scheduled surgery or transfusion. This presentation will briefly review the normal ABO testing and expected reactions followed by a discussion of how to recognize and resolve ABO discrepancies when they are encountered. Case studies will be presented to provide practical experience.
Sponsored by Indiana University Health
- #8 The Experience Economy: How Experiences Can Transform Employees, Customers, and Your Hospital's Budget (I)
PATTY ESCHLIMAN, MHA, MLS(ASCP)^{CM}DLM^{CM}
This presentation is for all laboratory professionals interested in how customer service has evolved, the difference between what customers expect and what they want, and who can benefit most when there is a change in how customer satisfaction is approached. You might be surprised to learn you can increase employee engagement and improve your budget while you make customers happy.
- #9 Hematology Case Studies (I)
NICHOLAS C BREHL, M.ED, MLS(ASCP)^{CM}
A selection of hematology case studies will be presented. Our investigation will begin with basic morphology and culminate in a detailed analysis incorporating relevant biochemistry, flow cytometry, and molecular techniques. The depth and breadth of the presentation caters to MLS/MLT.
Sponsored by Indiana University
- #10 It's Not What You Know, It's Who You Know! (I)
GEORGE A FRITSMA, MS, MLS
Why do we join professional organizations? Colleagues who have responsibilities need and value each other. We work in a high risk, high reward environment, making decisions that affect people's lives, and we need support and information. How do we develop relationships, what makes them strong, and what qualities do we look for?
