

Scotland Students Earn Recognition at State PTA Event

Two Scotland Elementary students were recognized at the state PTA Reflections awards breakfast in April. The premise behind Reflections is art education and expression. The theme for the competition this year was “Let Your Imagination Fly.”

Madelyn Ross and Ari Snyder were the award recipients, according to Thomas VanArsdale, Scotland principal. Madelyn won third place in Intermediate Music. Ari Snyder won 4th place in Intermediate Photography.

“Overall, Scotland Elementary School was well represented in the PTA Reflections Contest. We had an award recipient or someone mentioned as honorable mention in eight out of nine Region 11 award categories. Janelle Rosenberry received 3rd place in Visual Arts at the primary level. Honorable mention recognition also went to Kendall Temchack and Abigail Rensch at the primary level,” said Mr. VanArsdale.

Dana Rosenberry received an honorable mention at the intermediate level. In the Dance Choreography category, Madelyn Ross secured third place. Madelyn also finished in first place in the intermediate music category. Ella Boal took second place. In the Photography primary category, Addisyn McCoy received second place and Gwenyth Sefcheck received honorable mention recognition. The intermediate Photography category saw Noah Shew receive a third place award and Brock Carbaugh receive honorable mention. Literature at the primary level saw Hannah and Alison Ross coming in first and second place respectively. Madelyn Ross finished in first place in this category.

“Congratulations to the Scotland Scotties for this impressive outcome!” said Mr. VanArsdale.
