Because ABN provides you discounts based on the volume of AT&T network services you purchase, the more you buy the better value you will enjoy. Best of all, AT&T makes it easy to manage your ABN plan through our award-winning, secure AT&T BusinessDirect® portal which delivers online tools for efficient, effective, convenient eServicing capabilities, 24x7.

Get the Most for Your Dollar

ABN provides you discounts across eligible AT&T services, so you get the products you want at a better value – thanks to a volume discount arrangement, enterprise-wide discounts and loyalty programs for using more AT&T services. Plus, under one of the option plans, you can receive a discounted rate for certain Local services.¹ You will enjoy discounts based on your volume of purchases, and the ABN term you choose. And with AT&T's Monthly Growth Incentive (MGI), if your monthly billings are above your minimum monthly commitment, you are eligible for additional savings.

ABN Express, designed to further simplify the purchasing experience, takes many of our most requested products and conveniently packages them with pre-defined pricing, discounts based upon eligible monthly billing, and a single contract and bill. So you can start off with a combination of services such as wireless and internet, and as your business changes or grows you can easily add services such as AT&T IP Flexible Reach, a managed Voice over IP communication SIP-trunking solution.

A Solution for Today – Ready for Tomorrow

From day one ABN provides you the best value for each of the services, and your discounts are based on your annual billing, so you don't have to worry about seasonal or monthly fluctuations. You're automatically future-ready, too. If your needs change, and you add or update technology, the ABN platform will adapt with you, ensuring that purchases of eligible products and services count towards your ABN volume discount. This means you can change your mix of services, throughout the life of your ABN term commitment and you can do so without starting over. How's that for flexibility?

A Billing Approach to Make Your Life Easier

ABN makes it remarkably easy to manage your communications billings with flexible options to suit your individual business needs, including electronic billing, credit card payment, as well as the capability to combine your wireline and wireless billing onto a single bill. Combined with a secure and personalized AT&T BusinessDirect® portal you can manage your plan to ensure you are receiving the full benefits of your ABN contract – quickly and efficiently – any time, day or night.
