

DIGITEC Partners with NBDA

Digitec, based in Sugar Land, looks forward to building meaningful relationships with NBDA members through our new partnership agreement. Digitec is a technology company providing multifunctional office equipment, document process software and managed print services to a wide range of industries across SMB and enterprise organizations.

The customer is at the top of our organizational charts and our focus on making it easier for your people to get their work done often results in greater profit and lower costs for the organization.

We are offering a "document checkup" called the digiknow for those companies who require greater strategy and information when making technology decisions. This will be at no cost for NBDA members. For those organizations needing to make swift decisions on equipment and services, we offer the official NBDA market basket of products and services that will be very cost effective and are backed by our digital guarantee.
