

Top 5 Fundraising Ideas

Selected by the Goodie Two Shoes staff

Flock Someone's Office!

Hold a good ole fashion "flocking" at your office. Charge co-workers $2 for printed cut-outs of pink flamingos or plastic yard birds and let them "flock" other people's offices or cubes. The "flockees" then have to pay $10 to move the "flock" to someone else's space of their choosing. The fundraising ends when the "flock" refuses to move! The bigger and more mobile the "flocking," the better.

Swear Jar

Everyone does it! Now they have to pay for it. Place a "Swear Jar" in your office or home, whenever someone says a bad word they have to put a dollar in the jar.

Extra Day Off Raffle

Pay $5 (or more) per raffle ticket to win an extra day off. Buy unlimited amount of tickets to increase chances of winning.

Charity Head Shave

Charity head shaves have long been a popular way of raising cash for good causes. The idea is simple and a great attention grabber, guaranteed to attract publicity for your heady GTSF fundraising efforts.

Dress up your boss

Choose a few members of management and designate a jar for each of them. Employees can place money in jars as their "votes" for who they would like to see dressed up for a day. The manager that receives the most money in the given time has to wear whatever costume is given to him/her for one full business day.
