

The Vivian A. and James L. Curtis Research Center at the University of Michigan School of Social Work is accepting applications for a postdoctoral fellowship. The Curtis Center is a multidisciplinary research support and program evaluation unit with a special emphasis on traditionally underserved populations.

This program emphasizes the training and development of social work academicians who will assume leadership roles in research, evaluation, teaching, and service. The selected fellow will partner with a team of externally-funded faculty mentors.

The Curtis Center will accept applications from candidates with proposed research agendas in the areas of: (1) integrated health, mental health, and behavioral health; (2) disease management (e.g., cancer, diabetes, HIV/AIDS, etc.); (3) geriatric social work or aging; or (4) palliative care.

The University of Michigan provides a rich interdisciplinary environment with seminars, invited lectures, and opportunities for collaboration with faculty across disciplines and departments. The position offers a stipend, health insurance, vacation, sick leave, and travel and meeting benefits. We especially invite and encourage applications from members of ethnic and racial minority groups. The University of Michigan is a non-discriminatory/affirmative action employer.

U-M EEO/AA Statement

The University of Michigan is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

How to Apply

For immediate consideration and possible interview at the upcoming SSWR conference in Washington, DC (January 13-17, 2016), please email CV, writing sample, and 3 reference letters to the Curtis Center ssw.curtiscenter@umich.edu

Deadline for applications (CV, writing sample, and 3 reference letter) is March 1, 2016, but applications after that date may be considered.