

Marin Interfaith Council Retreat
Soul Work & Social Change
Sunday, February 28, 2016, 2pm – 8pm
& Monday, February 29, 10am-3pm

Rev. Kay Collette

Rabbi Elana Rosen-Brown

Professor Arthur Scott

Chaplain Nathaniel Vose

Anubhuti Retreat Center
820 Bel Marin Keys Blvd., Novato, CA 94949

As the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences responds to widespread criticism concerning the lack of ethnic diversity in this year's Academy Award nominees, MIC's interfaith retreat will delve into a conversation about Soul Work and Social Change. How do we as people of faith, ethics and conscience, respond to injustice and discrimination within our families, congregations, workplaces, government and society as a whole? Do we engage these conversations with a perspective of "right and wrong" or from a place of discovery, insight and compassion? Why do questions about social action make some people uncomfortable, and are there ways to reimagine ourselves as people of soul work and social change? Four religious leaders from the Buddhist, Jewish, Christian and Muslim traditions will guide and facilitate us.

Cost: $80-$60 sliding scale for one day
$140-$100 for both days

Vegetarian meal included, Partial scholarships available

For teacher bios and details, please go to our website at www.marinifc.org

Register at www.marinifc.org or contact Janice Lum at programs@marinifc.org 415-456-6957