

ARA Members Prepare for Annual Hill Day and State Legislative Summit

Many of your automotive recycling colleagues will be packing their bags later this week to visit our Nation's Capitol on April 18-19 and participate in ARA's annual Hill Day and State Legislative Summit. These are popular annual events for many ARA members, providing important opportunities for auto recyclers to educate Members of Congress about the issues important to the industry as well as dialogue with ARA members in neighboring states about the legislative issues that they are facing.

This year's event will begin on Sunday, April 17 with an ARA Board of Directors meeting, open to all ARA members. On Monday, April 18 state legislative issues will be the topic of the day during the 9th Annual State Legislative Summit. On Tuesday, April 19 ARA members will head to Capitol Hill to meet with their Congressional representatives to build on the success of last year's Hill Day, which contributed to a broader understanding in Congress of why OE parts data is critical to the industry as well as consumer safety. Stay tuned for a complete wrap-up of these events in the April 25 newsletter edition.
