

From Debbie:

Lately it seems to me that we humans are finding it increasingly difficult to slow our lives down, reflect on all that is good and more importantly we are finding it difficult to exercise our capacity for compassion and empathy.

Honestly, if I get honked at one more time because I haven't accelerated fast enough after the light turns green. - I'M GONNA THROTTLE SOMEONE!!

But I digress.

Here at Chickie's Bail Bonds with each and every case we are given a priceless gift. That gift is the opportunity to reach out to another person, no matter the circumstance and extend ourselves in the spirit of care, compassion and empathy. Whether it's holding a frightened mother's hand in a courtroom; giving someone a hug after they are released from a jail cell; or maybe it's a simple phone call reaching out with a soothing voice saying "we'll be there, try not to worry". Simple, easy, uncomplicated compassion. It is really the greatest gift we can give to one another. It is what has brought me my greatest joy in the nearly 26 years I have worked at Chickie's Bail Bonds.

During this season of giving my wish for all of you is that you will find a moment to remember the compassion and care that we should have for one another. I am grateful and humbled by all the wonderful clients you have sent to us over the years and hopefully in the brief time our paths crossed we were able to make a difference.

There truly is no greater gift!

Warm Holiday Wishes
