SR Construction Honored with Two Prestigious Awards

LAS VEGAS – SR Construction, a local design/build general contractor founded in 1991, was awarded two Excellence in Construction awards from the Nevada Chapter of Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc. SR's winning projects include awards for Public School 702 Restaurant and Hakkasan Corporate Office projects.

“These awards are a testament to the quality work we provide each and every day, year after year,” said Scott Loughridge, owner and president of SR Construction. “We are proud to continue to deliver innovative projects, new technology and top-quality service to all of our clients and we're grateful for the opportunity to showcase some of our work through these awards.”

SR Construction was founded as a full service general contractor with the primary goal of providing its clients with the highest degree of quality and the greatest level of service on each project it undertakes. SR works with clients through the entire design and construction processes, from lines on paper all the way through the completion of building, delivering projects on time and on budget that incorporate all of the client's vision and needs.

“We are proud to serve this community and stand behind the excellent projects we design and construct,” said Loughridge. “We look forward to a bright future in Southern Nevada and thank our community partners, clients and team for the opportunity to build these award winning projects.”
