Long Elementary Paints “Why America is Great!”

Las Vegas-based business consulting and CPA firm Johnson Advisors visited Walter V. Long Elementary school on May 25 to announce the winner of the firm’s annual Fourth of July art contest during the school’s end-of-the-year assembly. Johnson Advisors annually celebrates the birth of our great country and supports the youth in our community by partnering with an under-served elementary school in Clark County to participate in its annual Fourth of July Card Program. The winning artwork will grace the front cover of the firm’s Fourth of July card that is sent to clients, friends of the firm, and other members of the community.

“Our firm values the importance, and responsibility, of giving back to our community. As many of us were once students in the Clark County School District, we feel one of the best ways to give back is through the support of education,” Senior Staff Accountant Russell Oberhelman said.

The 3rd, 4th, & 5th graders at Long elementary were asked to portray why America is a great country to live in and what being an American means to them. Hundreds of artistically creative entries were submitted, but it was 4th grader Sheila Salazar Magana’s artwork that captured this year’s theme – Heart of America. Sheila drew an American flag heart that was embraced by the words “Freedom” and “American” to represent her thoughts on why America is great. As a token of the firm’s appreciation, Sheila was awarded a basket of art supplies and a $5,000 contribution was made to the school’s general fund.

Principal Katie Decker said the $5,000 contribution will be allocated to “the art program at Walter V. Long, because we still have quite a bit to paint and decorate at the school.” It is very fitting that the funds will be used to paint the school since color is a fundamental element of our lives. The halls of Long Elementary are already painted with colorful murals of the students’ favorite stories.
