

2016 Great Columbia Crossing – Clam Bucks FAQ

What are Clam Bucks?

Clam Bucks are wooden tokens worth $1 each. They can be spent just like cash.

Where can Clam Bucks be spent?

Clam Bucks can be spent ONLY at participating Chamber member businesses. Limit: 5 Clam Bucks per person, per business.

Who spends Clam Bucks?

Each of the 3,500 participants in the Great Columbia Crossing receives 5 Clam Bucks when they pick up their race packet. They are also provided with a list of the participating Chamber member businesses where they can spend the Clam Bucks. This list is also available on the race website, www.GreatColumbiaCrossing.com.

When can Clam Bucks be spent?

Clam Bucks are valid for a full week, starting on the first day of race packet pickup, Thursday, October 13. Race day is Sunday, October 16. The final day Clam Bucks can be used is Wednesday, October 19.

Why should businesses participate in the Clam Bucks program?

Clam Bucks are a great way to entice race participants and their family members/friends to visit your business during race week. Most people end up spending more than what their Clam Bucks can buy, which is money in your pocket. After October 19, participating Chamber member businesses can return their Clam Bucks to the Chamber for a refund of $0.50 each.

How can I sign up?

Just contact Event Coordinator Kelsey Balensifer at (503) 325-6311 or kelsey@oldoregon.com to sign up prior to Sept. 15! It's that simple. We'll drop off "Clam Bucks Accepted Here" signs at your business in early October for you to hang in your window/door. Be sure to let your front line staff members know about Clam Bucks, too!

(Actual wording on Clam Bucks may vary.)
