

Essential Manners for Modern Children Summer Camp

Dates: July 20 to 24, 2015 or August 24 to 28, 2015

Times: 9:00 AM to 12:00 PM

Location: Seattle World Trade Center, 2200 Alaskan Way, Seattle

Open to children ages 7 to 12

Manners are more important than ever, and when practiced will help your children be successful socially and later professionally. This fun and interactive week-long camp will teach your children essential manners and important social skills to help them be confident and comfortable in any situation.

The classes include role plays, discussion, hands-on activities and more. The camp will also include manners related crafts and games.

Camp will culminate in a three-course meal where the children will practice the table manners and conversation skills they've learned during the week.

Topics covered include:

- Making a Great First and Lasting Impression
- Manners Outside the Home
- Digital Diplomacy
- Parties and Playdates
- Table Manners

Tuition: $349 per child, which includes snacks Monday through Thursday and a three-course lunch on Friday, a certificate of completion and handouts. Space is limited to 14 children.

Register at: <http://www.cliseetiquette.com/summer-camp-essential-manners-modern-children/>

Can't make the dates? Sign up for the Clise Etiquette newsletter to be informed of upcoming camps and classes at www.cliseetiquette.com

Testimonial

"More than just teaching about manners, the Modern Manners class really helped my kids understand why we have manners. The kids had a great time and you provided a relaxing and enjoyable atmosphere for learning. A month later, they are still reminding each other about particular rules of etiquette, especially when dining away from home. Thanks for a great and lasting experience!"

Ross Bunker, parent

