

-Lost in Translation---

A French actor/playwright and an English speaking founder of a nonprofit are collaborating to write a play to cast light on the darkness surrounding child abuse. We need help, Hubert speaks some English and Barry speaks no French.

Can you help them to ensure that the meaning and the depth of their thoughts are effectively communicated to one other?

It is envisaged that this project will last a few months, requiring approximately 4 to 12 hours per month dependent on our availability and tasks required. The discussions will take place via e-mail and Skype. There is a possibility that a trip France may be needed. Empathy and experience with French culture will be important.
