Please join us in celebration of Shabbat and in preparation for the High Holy Days on a Journey Toward Wholeness throughout the coming season at Shabbat services and committee meetings, in the parking lot, around the table, and in private moments of reflection.

A single text will guide our way, focus our thoughts and motivate our actions on teshuvah, the process of seeking wholeness in our lives and our world.

We are pleased to introduce you to our friend, Zusia, an 18th century guest from Hanipol.

He teaches:

There are five verses in the Bible that constitute the essence of Judaism. The verses begin in Hebrew with one of these letters: Tav, Shin, Vav, Bet, Heh, which comprise the Hebrew word for repentance: teshuvah.

You shall be whole-hearted with Adonai, your God… (Deuteronomy 18:13) 
I have set Adonai always before me… (Psalms 16:80) 
But you shall love your neighbor as yourself. (Leviticus 19:18) 
In all your ways acknowledge God. (Proverbs 3:6) 
Walk humbly with your God. (Micah 6:8) 

Therefore, resolve to act accordingly, so that your repentance may be sincere.

We invite you to reflect on Zusia’s words and consider…

Where can you become more whole-hearted in your relationships?
How will you strive to keep Jewish values before you always?

At the center of Zusia’s biblical passages is a call to action. Make a plan to extend yourself and show love for your neighbor, to people in need.
Take a moment to look back at the year. Acknowledge the ways you have changed and give thanks for the blessings.
What steps can you take to walk more humbly in the year to come?

We look forward to joining with you as we engage with our tradition and each other to Journey Toward Wholeness together during this sacred season.

L’shanah Tovah!

Journey Toward Wholeness

Open The Gates

“I find it refreshing, and I find it helpful, because knowing some of the music and preparing for services is a very big part of my spirituality…Being able to hear the melodies, understand the context and be informed beforehand, allows me to stay more involved throughout the High Holy Days.”

Gayle Miller, Ken Sribnick

Elul: Month of Personal Transformation

Join us for Shabbat during Elul, as we prepare for the High Holy Days through song and silence, prayer and reflection. On Fridays from 5:30 - 6 p.m. we will begin with “Open the Gates,” a portal for deeper understanding of the High Holy Days season through music, contemplative readings, shared learning and pathways for personal practice.

At 6:15, Shabbat services begin, utilizing the draft of the new Reform High Holy Days machzor (prayer book) to pray, reflect and engage in creative teachings with our clergy. On Saturday mornings, we will listen to special Haftarah portions from the prophet Isaiah on the restoration of the spirit and our service to repairing the world.

Draft Machzor

“There’s heart and a beautiful human-ness to this work: It’s accessible and provides lots of material to ponder, along with concise, thoughtful notations. This machzor crystallized the meaning of the High Holy Days and helped me to embark on the trek through the Days of Awe and begin to carry out its urgent errand of self-examination.”

Jean Maza
Just before Rosh Hashanah, we’ll gather for a full weekend of spiritual inquiry with the Dolores and Walter Neustadt Visiting Scholar, Rabbi Sheila Peltz Weinberg. Beginning on Friday evening, with opportunities continuing through Sunday morning (see the schedule on page 7), we’ll explore the heart-opening potential of prayer, relationships, meditation and yoga, including the beautiful Saturday night service of Selichot with its changing of the Torah covers to white.

“Rabbi Weinberg’s teachings offered me access to a contemplative Shabbat service, broadened my understanding of Torah, and helped me hear and respond more fully to the shofar’s call. Through her teachings, I have gained a deeper experience of the Days of Awe, opening my heart and touching my soul.”

Journey Toward Wholeness: Coming Home to the Language of the Heart

From Rosh Hashanah through Yom Kippur

Rosh Hashanah’s celebration of the creation of the world reminds us that we too are created anew each year and each day, and on Yom Kippur that fresh start invites us to use words, music and silence to reflect and renew our efforts to bring healing into our own lives, our community and our world.

Journey Toward Wholeness: Selichot

Coming Home to the Language of the Heart

Since graduating from the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College in 1986, Rabbi Sheila Peltz Weinberg has served in multiple capacities in the Jewish community—congregation rabbi, Hillel director, day school teacher and community relations professional. She is now a senior teacher and director of community outreach at the Institute for Jewish Spirituality, a retreat-based program for Jewish leaders and clergy (www.jewishspirituality.org). She also serves as a spiritual director to rabbis, cantors and educators across the country.

For more than two decades, Rabbi Weinberg has studied mindfulness meditation, introducing it in combination with yoga as a way to enliven and illuminate Jewish practice, ideas and community. She is the developer and co-director of the Jewish Mindfulness Teachers’ Training.

Rabbi Weinberg has written extensively on a variety of subjects including Jewish spirituality, social justice, feminism and parenting. She is a major contributor to the Kol Haneshamah prayer book series. Her CD, Preparing the Heart: Meditation for Jewish Spiritual Practice, integrates Jewish sacred text and meditation. Her first book, Surprisingly Happy: An Atypical Religious Memoir, was published in 2010.

Celebrate Israel’s 65th Birthday at the Torah
The Hebrew word aliyah means “to go up” and we use it in Jewish life to describe ascending the hills that lead to Jerusalem and approaching the bima to recite the blessings at the Torah. In this year marking Israel’s 65th birthday, our congregation joins the two images into a single action with an open invitation to join the celebration. If you have traveled to Israel in the past 65 years, you are invited for an aliyah, to join others in chanting the Torah blessings on Rosh Hashanah day at the 9:00 a.m. service in the Olan Sanctuary. Together we will gather on the bima or around scrolls placed at the front of Tobian Auditorium as we reflect on our memories and connections to the land and language, the stories and memories of the Jewish people. If you’d like to practice the blessings, here is a link to an audio file as well as the words in Hebrew and transliteration: http://www.tedallas.org/prayer/torah-blessing-for-practice.

Sculpture, The Scholar, to be Dedicated August 23
Please join us Friday, August 23, after services to dedicate the sculpture, The Scholar. The sculpture is a gift from Wilshire Baptist Church for which we are profoundly grateful! We look forward to gathering together in Klein Garden to celebrate this significant sculpture, created by George Tobolowsky, which stands as a powerful and dynamic expression of the treasured relationship between Temple and Wilshire. The Scholar depicts a human form, standing tall and holding a Torah scroll, symbolic of the study of Scripture that is at the heart of both the Jewish and Christian traditions, central to the sacred work of both Wilshire Baptist Church and Temple Emanu-El. We hope you are available for this meaningful dedication and celebration with Wilshire Baptist Church members.

Looking Ahead to Sukkot 2013

Sukkot (literally, “Booths”) is one of the three pilgrimage festivals, along with Passover and Shavuot that were originally agricultural celebrations. Also known as the Feast of Booths or Feast of Tabernacles, Sukkot marks the fall harvest. Its significance, however, goes beyond being a holiday of thanksgiving for the harvest. In the Amidah, Sukkot is described as “the time of our rejoicing.” The special significance and joy of Sukkot cannot be removed from the fact that it falls on the heels of the 10-day period of introspection and repentance beginning with Rosh Hashanah and ending with Yom Kippur, to which it brings a sense of completion and spiritual gratification.

Please join us for the following opportunities throughout the celebration of Sukkot:

Monday, September 16: Decorate the sukkah with WRJ using all natural materials beginning at 9am. Come and join the fun! Please contact Amy Roseman at agrmjr@sbcglobal.net.
Thursday, September 19: Sukkot Festival Service with Temple Shalom, 9am in the sukkah and Nasher Atrium
Friday, September 20: ECEC Shabbat in the Sukkah at 9am, Sukkot Shabbat Service at 6:15pm followed by Sukkot Under the Stars dinner and activities. For more information please contact Diana Coben Einstein at deinstein@tedallas.org.
Saturday, September 21: Chever Torah at 9am, Shabbat Service at 10:30am, Sukkot Nosh in the Sukkah at 12pm
Sunday, September 22: Caring Congregation Fall Lunch, 1pm
Tuesday, September 24: Henry D. Schlinger Ethics Symposium, 7:30pm

Known as the “Time of our Happiness,” Sukkot is one of my favorite Jewish holidays. God wants us to start the New Year feeling true joy by simply appreciating all that is good in our lives. Too many times we want for more than we have... more toys, more gadgets, more clothes, a bigger home, more money in the bank. But when the Jews lived in temporary sukkahs night after night for 30 years, they were constantly reminded, “true happiness comes not from all the stuff we have, but from what we still have when stripped of all our stuff.

So during the week of Sukkot, I really try to help my family put everything in perspective, focus on being grateful, content and at peace with what IS, so that we can be happy with all the many blessings in our lives and all the many blessings to come.

Candace Stone, Sukkot Under the Stars Co-Chair

Sukkot Morning Celebration

Thursday, September 19 at 9:00 a.m. in the Sukkah, Nasher Courtyard and Klein Garden

Celebrate Sukkot and express gratitude through song and silence, prayer and Torah study, stretching (of body and spirit), and even a walking meditation, as we gather outdoors and enjoy the beauty of the season. Come in cool, comfortable and casual clothes for this creative and celebratory morning that we will share with members of Temple Shalom.

Shabbat in the Garden

Saturday, September 28 at 10:30 a.m. in the Gan T’filah

According to the Book of Genesis, when God finished creating the world, Adam and Eve celebrated the very first Shabbat in Gan Eden, the Garden of Eden. We will celebrate the first Shabbat of the year in our Gan T’filah, our Garden Chapel, next to our Community Garden. We invite you to come casual—wear cool clothes and sunscreen. We’ll have fans and plenty of water, as we read from the opening passages of the Torah, and celebrate the wonders of nature with prayer and song, silence and learning as people have done since the world was created. WRJ is hosting lunch following the service with advance registration. Please RSVP by contacting Stacy Bruce at 214-417-4645 or sbruche@cabbomartinez.com

Our Daily Minyan in Lefkowitz Chapel

Add your voice and your heart to this loyal and loving group of congregants who begin each day with words of prayer. The brief service includes singing, reading in English and Hebrew, prayers for healing and the opportunity for a community to support those in mourning with the recitation of Kaddish.

Kever Avot

The Graves of our Ancestors

In Jewish tradition it is a mitzvah to visit the graves of our ancestors. A meaningful way to fulfill this mitzvah is to visit the graves of our loved ones during the days leading up to the High Holy Days, a tradition called Kever Avot. According to Jewish law, gravesites are not visited during Shabbat or during the High Holy Days which is why Kever Avot takes place in the days preceding Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

Our community custom of Kever Avot is to hold a meaningful service of remembrance led by our clergy whether you have loved ones buried at the historic Temple Emanu-El Cemetery or elsewhere. It is a time when we may confront our own mortality and it may help us to face the future with serious intent and purposefulness. The cemetery is a place for contemplation and reflection. It is a holy place, sanctified by tears, prayers and the physical remains of our predecessors.

Although laws exist in our tradition that determine when we should visit the graves of our loved ones, there is no law that details how one should experience the occasion. Often visitors are absolutely silent, absorbed in their private memories. Others “talk” to the deceased, sharing concerns, hopes and prayers. Psalms and readings are often recited.

In addition to prayer, many people follow the ancient custom of placing a stone on the marker. As opposed to flowers which fade and wither, the stone is solid and permanent and serves as a sign of hope that the memories of our loved ones never fade.

Finally, some have the custom of plucking grass on leaving the burial grounds. This act symbolizes the frailty of life and reminds us that though “we are as dust” (Ps. 103:14), never-the-less, we hope for the time of resurrection when the righteous “shall blossom out of the city like grass of the earth” (Ps. 72:16).

We hope you and your family will join us in carrying out the tradition of Kever Avot as a way to continue to cope with your loss and to honor the memory of our loved ones. The service will be held at 1:00pm on Sunday September 8, 2013 in the chapel of Temple Emanu-El’s Mausoleum.

New Daytime Meetings for Temple Book Club

Interfaith Families Gather in the Spirit of Social Justice

On Saturday, June 1 Interfaith Families of Temple Emanu-El filed into Pollman Hall with happy hearts and loads of books for the children of Pebbles Apartments. Pebbles Apartments, which is located just east of Temple Emanu-El in Vickery Meadow, provide safe permanent housing for formerly homeless mothers and their children. Nancy Lubar, a Temple Emanu-El member and lead volunteer, introduced the project and explained the needs: Most of these children are underexposed to literature and are reading well below grade level. Providing books not only promotes literacy, but also gives children a positive activity during the long summer months.

Temple children and parents sorted books, decorated gift bags and bookmarks and labeled bags for each individual child. Many older Temple children organized the books into bags to match the Pebbles' children's ages and genders. In the end, each of the 26 kids living in Pebbles was given between 8-10 books and a lovely, hand-decorated bookmark. Interfaith Families also provided extra books to add to the library in the community room of the apartment complex which TE members renovated last summer. After the project, Temple families enjoyed dinner and a Havdalah service.

The next afternoon Nancy Lubar escorted Temple 2nd grader Ellie Shanks, sister Amelia, and parents as they delivered the books to the Pebbles children. Ellie took the lead, making sure all the children's book picks were just right. The Pebbles children were delighted and shared special moments reading with the Shanks' family and Nancy Lubar.

DME Exchange of Dallas - 100th patient served!

After two years of planning and networking, and with the help of many individuals and organizations throughout Dallas County, DME Exchange of Dallas is now providing free medical equipment to people in need throughout Dallas County. Among the key supporters at Temple Emanu-El were Rabbi Knight, Women of Reform Judaism, the Social Justice Council and many individual members. In May, 2013, the organization served its 100th patient, and it would like to serve hundreds more this year if it finds enough volunteers and funds.

DME stands for Durable Medical Equipment, which includes wheelchairs, walkers, home hospital beds and other physical aids. According to DME Exchange Executive Director, Betty Hersey, “We served four clients in [December] and we have been steadily growing ever since. Our equipment literally means the difference between having to be confined to a hospital room because of the lack of equipment rather than the ability to go home. It means being able to move around one’s home rather than being stuck in a bed. It means being able to go outside, to run errands, to participate more successfully in a community rather than being homebound. It means an increased level of independence.”

The organization has a growing team of volunteers who have learned to repair and sanitize equipment, some who volunteer to work in the office, some help with computers, some help with golf tournaments, marketing, planning and vision. To be a part of the team of DME Exchange volunteers, contact Sue Pickens at suepickens@att.net.

How We Care - Booties for Babies
by Marlene Myers

Babies are magical. And I love magic. Sometimes, I imagine myself to be Fairy Godmother to newborn babies that I may never know. Knitting needles are my magic wands. Yarn the sparkling thread that joins me to each baby. Alone I work my magic. I create a new pair of booties for a new life. Each stitch is filled with love, care and good wishes for tiny beings that have arrived to a Temple Emanu-El family. I volunteer in the Caring Congregation at Temple. The Babies and Booties project sends a gift of booties to each of these families. In my heart I know that these tiny gifts will be welcomed with surprise and a kind of delighted joy that will bring a smile to each person who touches them. If that isn’t magic, I don’t know what is.

To give a gift of time, energy or self is for me a wonderful experience. You do something. You put it out into the world. You never quite know what difference it will make. All you really know is that you feel so good doing it. And you want to keep doing it. Rumor has it that this is a mitzvah. I call it magic.

Have you ever received an anonymous gift? I did and it changed the way I looked at every person I knew. I wondered, “Was it you? Did you do this for me without wanting even a smile or a thank you?” I felt like something magical had happened to me.

Babies and Booties are gifts from an entire Caring Congregation. You may not know exactly who your Fairy Godmother is in that Caring Congregation but you can be sure that you have one.

Marlene Myers has been working her magic for a number of years, producing countless pairs of booties for Temple’s newest members. Babies and Booties is the first “tiny” step of the dozens of steps or parts of Caring Congregation that touch a congregant through all of their lifecycles. These simple touches have a life-long impact. Marlene is a vital part of the success of Temple Emanu-El and a fantastic example of how and why we care. Marlene is pictures on the right with fellow knitters Barbara Stone and Katherine Bauer and a finished piece of magic.

Derek Champion Achieves BSA Eagle Rank

Derek Stewart Champion of Temple Emanu-El Troop 729 recently received his Eagle Scout rank. Eagle is the highest rank in Scouting and signifies the attainment of superior knowledge and skills. He is the 93rd Eagle to join Troop 729 Eagle Honor Roll. Boy Scouts of America Troop 729 is sponsored by Temple Emanu-El Brotherhood, chartered in 1919.

Derek is the son of Rich and Kathy Champion of Dallas. Derek’s Eagle Project was working with the Casa Linda UMC Church in East Dallas, which is one of the locations of Project Transformation (PT). PT provides community-oriented safe and caring summer and after school programs for children at several locations in low income neighborhoods. Derek built six new cubby storage shelves to use during PT’s summer camp. These storage units created a total of 36 cubbies for children to use now and allow for expansion as needed. Derek also has volunteered at PT for several summers helping the campers with their reading.

Weiss Youth Wing (lower level by Lefkowitz Chapel entry)
The discussion topic is Spectrum of Faiths (different varieties/denominations of the major faiths).
All women of Christian, Muslim and Jewish faiths are invited to attend! Meetings are open and free of charge; no membership is required. Together, we explore our varying religious beliefs and cultures while learning from each other with a spirit of tolerance and respect.
Temple Emanu-El contact for the August meeting is May Sebel, 214.361.5511 or msebel@sbcglobal.net.

August 16th is the deadline for New Year’s Greetings Orders!
Don’t Miss Out! Let us send personalized Uniongrams for you to our Rabbis, Cantors, Staff, Leaders, and your friends and family for Rosh Hashanah. Proceeds support the WRJ Youth, Education and Special Projects (Y.E.S.) Fund. Order forms are available only at the Temple reception desk, in the June/July issue of the Window and on www.tesisterhood.org.
