Susan Bincoletto

Chief Trade Commissioner & Assistant Deputy Minister
Department of Foreign Affairs, Trade, and Development Canada.

Ms. Susan Bincoletto is currently Assistant Deputy Minister, International Business Development and Chief Trade Commissioner at the Department of Foreign Affairs, Trade and Development Canada.

Prior to assuming her current position, Susan was ADM and Chief Financial Officer at Industry Canada and previously held ADM-level positions in two branches of Industry Canada.

Over the years, Susan has led many important economic policy initiatives, such as the successful reform of the Copyright Act, which brought Canada's copyright regime in line with those of its international partners, and the development of the first guidelines on State-Owned Enterprises under the Investment Canada Act.

Susan has also had a range of international and trade experience and spent three years working for UNICEF in Brazil and Italy.

Susan holds a master's degree in Economics from the University of Ottawa and recently completed the Advanced Management Program at Harvard Business School.
