The Community Living Campaign is looking for a bi-lingual social media trainer to facilitate computer training for seniors and people with disabilities at one or more sites in key San Francisco neighborhoods each week.

Based on interest and abilities, the trainings can be formal classes or simply helping people one-on-one in a computer lab. In addition, the ideal candidate will be able to assist with coordinating and scheduling other Cantonese-speaking trainers. The position is a part-time, independent contractor position at $25 per hour for 2 to 6 hours per week.

Do You:

- Have a natural talent for connecting people?
- See the gifts and talents in others?
- Believe that relationships are essential for a good life?
- Appreciate how technology and social media can help keep people connected with friends and family?
- Want to be part of a creative, cutting edge team?

The successful Community Social Media Trainer will:

- Have good computer and social media skills
- Have experience working with seniors and adults with disabilities
- Be willing to bring your own talents and relationships to the work
- Be a great listener
- Help sites creatively work to bridge the gap from isolation to inclusion and belonging for their computer lab participants
- Be organized and punctual
- Fill out simple reports in support of the program
- Attend quarterly meetings with other CLC Social Media Trainers

Interested?

The Community Living Campaign will provide initial training and ongoing support. Older adults, individuals with disabilities and bi-lingual individuals in Cantonese are particularly encouraged to apply.
