

Keck School of Medicine, University of Southern California
PULMONARY Sleep Medicine

Seeking co-Director for the Newly Established ACGME Accredited Sleep Fellowship Program

Merritt Hawkins, Department of Academics has partnered with the University of Southern California Keck School of Medicine, and the Division of Pulmonary, Critical Care and Sleep Medicine with the Department of Medicine to recruit an ABIM-certified physician in pulmonary and sleep medicine to serve in a vital role in their newly established sleep program:

- Collaborate with an outstanding team to deliver compassionate, evidence-based, state-of-the-art care to a large and diverse multicultural community
- Hospital is ranked in the Top 10 for the entire state of California per 2015-2016 U.S. News & World Report annual rankings
- Access to prestigious, university-owned academic medical centers—teaching responsibilities with one of the top medical schools in California
- Collaborate with ENT surgeons, cardiologists, psychiatrists, engineers and other providers in this newly opened, multi-disciplinary lung disease and sleep center
- Seeking a program builder for a virtually untapped market for sleep studies – goal is to be the beacon sleep medicine provider in the region
- Successful candidate will also do a mix of Pulmonary Medicine and Critical Care, with a strong interest in teaching and mentoring residents and fellows

Premier Practice Location with Exceptional Quality of Life

- Access to multiple airports and year-round good weather
- Every professional sport, performing art and other recreational/cultural amenity available
- Easy access to the beach and ski slopes
- Top-notch public and private schools in addition to multiple local universities
- Numerous options in the region in which to reside—private communities, beach homes and urban living
- Mediterranean climate—multicultural community
