

Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center (MSKCC) is seeking an innovative and transformational physician leader to join one of the most progressive and prestigious cancer care institutions in the world in the newly created position of Deputy, Physician-in-Chief, Clinical Operations (DPiC).

The DPiC will serve as a change agent in advancing clinical operations and transforming care delivery. She/he will be responsible for maximizing the efficiency of clinical operations while ensuring the coordination and integration of care across the continuum. Spearheading clinical initiatives aimed at improving the delivery of patient services necessary to deliver high value care (cost, quality and patient experience), the DPiC will work collaboratively with department chairs, nursing and senior leadership to optimize the clinical delivery model improving patient flow, throughput and access, reducing length of stay and re-admissions, while enhancing quality outcomes and the patient experience.

The DPiC is a full time position and includes a limited clinical practice. The position requires an individual who has a passion to improve processes and systems of care delivery and the ability to work well with multiple partners and stakeholders in a highly matrixed environment. The successful candidate will have an intimate knowledge of clinical practice, an understanding of the business of health care and will command the respect of peers and colleagues through professional achievement and fairness. This is an outstanding opportunity for an experienced physician leader with a track record of demonstrable success in medical management excellence to have an impact on care delivery with the complexities and challenges of working in a world-class institution.

Nominations, expressions of interest, and applications may be submitted confidentially via email to the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center search consultant, Witt/Kieffer, to the attention of Karen Otto, Linda Komnick and Sarah Zielke at MSKCCDPiC@wittkieffer.com or by phone at 630-990-1370.
