Associate Dean for Undergraduate Medical Education

The University of Minnesota Medical School is accepting applications for the senior leadership position of Associate Dean for Undergraduate Medical Education (UME). The Associate Dean is responsible for leading innovation, development, and operations throughout all segments of UME at the Medical School-Twin Cities campus, with responsibility for Assessment, Curriculum and Evaluation, Student Affairs, Financial Aid, Minority Affairs and Diversity, and the Faculty Advisors Program. The Associate Dean is a key member of the Office of Medical Education leadership team (Admissions/UME/GME/CPD) and reports directly to the Vice Dean for Medical Education.

The Twin Cities campus educates approximately 920 students annually in years one through four. Our curriculum is focused on the continuum, creating a bridge from education to practice. We teach in a vibrant, diverse health care environment with a history of strong community collaboration.

Candidates must have:

- demonstrated commitment to diversity and inclusiveness in leadership and possess the ability to work with a varied group of educators and stakeholders
- previous experience in medical student curriculum development with an emphasis in such areas as quality improvement, interprofessional education, teamwork, and maintaining excellence in the learning environment
- outstanding interpersonal skills including the ability to lead and work on a team

Applicants must be practicing MD clinicians. For more information and online application instructions, visit employment.umn.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=128433. Application review begins June 1, 2015, and continues until the position is filled.

The University of Minnesota is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.
