

Merritt Hawkins, the nation's premier academic search firm, invites you to consider a rare opportunity to step directly into a Division Chief of Plastic Surgery role with the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences University in Little Rock, Arkansas. We are seeking a candidate with an established track record of academic productivity and leadership who is eligible for appointment at the Associate Professor level for a position featuring the following attributes and opportunities:

- Lead an existing team of very busy plastic surgeons with high clinical productivity
- Ability to have a clinical focus in reconstructive breast surgery, cosmetic surgery, MOHS surgery, micro-surgery, trauma, wound care, or any other area
- Research is optional but not required
- High level trauma and burn surgery program and nationally known breast cancer program
- Teach medical students, residents, interns, PA students, and more
- Opportunity to help develop a plastic surgery residency or fellowship program
- New hospital facilities and operating rooms
- Free standing children's hospital, affiliated VA hospital, and School of Public Health on campus
- The Department and Division's surgical volume has grown rapidly in recent years

In addition to an outstanding leadership opportunity, you will enjoy living in a state capital city with a draw area of over 500,000. This historic Southeastern city includes:

- Fine culture: repertory theatre, symphony, ballet and fine dining
- Numerous outdoor opportunities: hiking, biking, boating and camping
- City boasts exemplary schools—both public and private
- Riverfront park entertainment district
- 10 colleges and universities, A-list public schools and world-class private schools
- 15,000 beds of healthcare in the community spread over 10+ hospitals and specialty centers
- Growing international community
- SEC sports, minor league baseball
- Amazing housing options within minutes of the hospital for around $100/square foot
- Mild weather year-round and opportunities for a variety of outdoor activities
- Major chain shopping and an array of unique local boutiques
- Multiple outstanding golf courses and country clubs minutes away from the hospital

PLEASE CONTACT: Ally Geller OF ACADEMIC RECRUITING

ALLY.GELLER@MERRITTHAWKINS.COM or 469-524-1560, office