

Director of Pediatric Neurology Residency Program

The Department of Neurology at the University of Virginia seeks applicants for a Child Neurologist at the Assistant, Associate or Full Professor rank (tenure eligible or tenure ineligible). The incumbent spearheads the pediatric neurology residency-training program and participates in caring for children with neurological disorders in the inpatient and outpatient settings. Rank and tenure status are dependent upon qualifications and experience.

Candidates must have an MD and be board-certified or board-eligible in Neurology at the time of hire with special qualifications in child neurology. Candidates with prior experience in Graduate Medical Education (ACGME or non-ACGME accredited) training programs in Pediatric Neurology as a training program director or associate director are preferred. To be considered for the tenure-eligible position, candidates must have a strong interest in a career in academic medicine and demonstrate scholarship and excellence in two domains consistent with the requirements for tenure in the School of Medicine.

The University of Virginia is located in Charlottesville, a setting with natural beauty. The Division of Pediatric Neurology is a strong clinical and research division, composed of senior and junior faculty with diverse interests spanning epilepsy, degenerative disorders, neuromuscular disease, neuro-oncology, neonatal neurology, concussion and headache. There is strong collaboration with its disease-specific programs and multidisciplinary centers. Additionally, there are strong core programs/facilities to support translational and clinical research.
