

University of Colorado

Division of Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility

Seeks a Medical Director

Merritt Hawkins invites you to consider a new Reproductive Endocrinology opportunity in Denver, Colorado. This is a vibrant and growing practice, which functions under the principle of putting patients before profits. They have an experienced and comprehensively skilled team of experts providing a full range of care to residents of Colorado and beyond. They specialize in the evaluation and treatment of infertility and reproductive disorders, providing a wide variety of treatments and personalized care in our state-of-the-art facility, ranging from basic infertility treatment to the most advanced in vitro fertilization (IVF) methods and technology available today.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Our expert staff includes the clinical research team, the IVF and Andrology Lab technicians, fertility psychologists, experienced nurses, and knowledgeable support staff. Additionally, we work closely with a urologist who is subspecialty trained in Male Infertility.
- The clinical staff practice evidence-based medicine. They strive to avoid unnecessary tests and treatments. It is their belief that simple approaches such as medication treatment and/or insemination and therapy are often successful. The staff works with patients and couples to try to find the simplest and most affordable treatment.
- The diagnosis and plans are individually based. They are honest with patients regarding their chances of success, but are willing to give patients with limited success an opportunity to try treatment, if the expected benefits outweigh the risks. They often treat patients and couples with very complex and difficult issues such as cancer or major medical problems.
- Services here include: in-office hysteroscopies, LGBT Family Planning, Infertility Diagnosis & Testing, Fertility Treatments, IVF, Male Fertility Treatments, Donors & Surrogacy, Egg Freezing, Fertility Preservation & Oncofertility, Cancer & Fertility, Fertility Counseling, Menopause Treatment, PCOS Treatment, ICSI and Fertility Weight Loss.

DENVER – WORK HARD/PLAY HARD – 300 DAYS OF SUNSHINE

Even better than visiting the Mile High City is calling it home. That way, you can make your own adventures, find your favorite places, and explore all the city has to offer. There are breathtaking views of the Rockies with abundant summer and winter outdoor recreational activities and it has the largest city park system in the nation.

Denver Leads #1: Forbes' 2015 List of the Best Places for Business and Careers

Denver is the nation's most highly educated city with the highest percentage of high school and college graduates. It has also become the sports mecca of the West with the addition of three huge stadiums in the past few years – MLB, NBA, NFL, NHL, MLS and many other professional sporting events.

Please Contact:

Breanna Elliott, Senior Director of Academic Recruiting

Breanna.elliott@merrithawkins.com

469.524.1770