

Jefferson Health is seeking an Enterprise Chief of Cardiology (Chief). The ideal candidate will be a transformational and collaborative leader with a strong clinical and academic foundation.

Jefferson Health was formed in May 2015, following the merger of Jefferson and Abington Hospitals. The system now comprises five hospitals, 13 outpatient and urgent care centers, as well as physician practices, delivering care throughout the city and suburbs of Philadelphia, Montgomery and Bucks counties in Pennsylvania, as well as southern New Jersey and Delaware. Jefferson Health will grow with the recently announced merger with Aria Health, and the planned addition expected in 2017 of Kennedy Health, based in southern New Jersey. Once Aria and Kennedy are full members of Jefferson Health, the growing health system will comprise 11 hospitals. In the present configuration, these facilities serve more than 78,000 inpatients, 238,000 emergency room patients and 1.7 million outpatient visits annually.

The Chief will lead clinical operations; transform care delivery in cardiology and partner with cardiac surgery in the advancement of integrated care on behalf of patients across the system and throughout the region. As a leader in the delivery of cardiovascular care, the Chief will set a vision for the Division of Cardiology at Jefferson and the Cardiovascular Clinical and Research Integrated Strategic Program (Cardiovascular CRISP). The Cardiovascular CRISP is an emerging strategic vision for cardiac surgery and vascular surgery, clinical cardiology and clinical vascular medicine to be integrated with clinical and basic science research across the enterprise that is Jefferson Health. The Cardiovascular CRISP will be jointly led by the Enterprise Chiefs of Cardiac Surgery and Cardiology as a cohesive and discreet organization, with a unique set of strategies and objectives.

The Chief is required to have an MD or MD/PHD from an accredited institution and must be board certified in Internal Medicine and Cardiology. The successful candidate will be an outstanding academic leader, respected clinician and researcher with demonstrated ability to effectively inspire, manage, mentor and develop a culturally diverse faculty and staff.
