

DERMATOLOGY, RESIDENCY PROGRAM DIRECTOR

at the UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO

Merritt Hawkins, a leading academic physician staffing and consulting firm, in partnership with the Department of Dermatology at the University of New Mexico, seeks to grow their faculty by three with a specialist in MOHS, a pediatric dermatology and adult dermatology. Our main need is to find a Residency Program Director within these three additional faculty positions.

Pediatric Dermatology: Seeking a faculty member with a strong interest in building, developing, and growing a vibrant pediatric dermatology practice. We have the only pediatric dermatologist in the state and she has started a vascular lesion clinic and multidisciplinary clinic. We can support your interests here.

MOHS: Join two busy, board certified MOHS physicians. We have an in house surgical facility, and our lab is CAP and CLIA certified.

Residency Program Director: Qualified and enthusiastic dermatologist applicants, who are dedicated to excellence and innovation in medical education, clinical training and professional mentorship to fulfill the duties of Dermatology Residency Program Director. Preference towards a general dermatologist with at least four years teaching experience plus, can handle severe medical issues in the state.

THE DEPARTMENT OF DERMATOLOGY serves a growing pediatric and adult population. We provide many services, including dermatopathology, phototherapy, and dermatologic surgery. We have 2 certified Mohs surgeons and 1 pediatric dermatology on faculty. We offer a stimulating environment and serve a medically complex patient population. Our residency program consists of 6 residents, with approval for a seventh slot. Opportunities for clinical research are available, and four endowments are being used within the department.

ALBUQUERQUE

This is a terrific place to live with countless outdoor activities available and true wilderness literally at your doorstep. Indeed, there are not many university cities of this size where you can be cross country skiing on a mountain top as the sun comes up and still get back in time for your morning clinic. Voted #3 in Bicycling Magazine as "Best Place to Bike in America." Albuquerque contains enough excitement but if not, don't forget about the dunes of White Sands, the slopes of Taos, the art of Santa Fe or the caves of Carlsbad. There is an international airport and a rich metropolis of nearly 1 million people. There are 310 days of sunshine a year and mild climate with four distinct seasons and very low humidity. Albuquerque, New Mexico boasts one of the second largest art markets in the U.S., plus world class dining, music, mountains, skiing, international airport and the famous Santa Fe Opera is 45 minutes away.
