

The National Board of Medical Examiners (NBME) invites applications and nominations for President and Chief Executive Officer. Based in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania the President will be responsible for the organization's day-to-day operations, in close collaboration with a team of senior vice presidents and carried out by approximately 500 full-time staff members. Founded in 1915, the NBME seeks a new President to lead the organization into its next century, continuing fulfillment of its mission, and pursuing an ambitious vision for its future.

NBME, an independent, not-for-profit 501(c)(3), is an organization dedicated to its mission which is to protect the health of the public through state of the art assessment of health professionals along the continuum of education, training, and practice. The NBME's vision is to enhance healthcare for patients around the world by using the power of assessment to drive individual, institutional, and system improvement and through research in evaluation as well as development of assessment instruments.

Reporting to NBME's Executive Board, the successful candidate will promote a culture of ongoing innovation throughout the organization, steward NBME's strong external relationships and partnerships, and manage a complex and high-performing organization. The next President will be a proven leader who can interact with a diverse body of healthcare professions, manage, delegate, and inspire NBME staff, as well as demonstrate a broad understanding of assessment and its function in assuring professional competence in healthcare.

Please direct inquiries, nominations, and applications to Isaacson, Miller, a national retained executive search firm. All replies will be held in strict confidence. Correspondence and applications, which should include a curriculum vita and a letter of interest, should be submitted electronically to John Muckle; 263 Summer Street, Suite 700, Boston, MA 02210; <http://www.imsearch.com/5822>.
