

Bassett Medical Center invites applications and nominations for the inaugural Chief, Cardiovascular Service (CV) Line. This position offers an extraordinary opportunity for a talented and accomplished medical leader to represent the Bassett CV Service Line and continue the development and growth of Bassett Medical Center's extraordinary clinical, educational and research enterprise. The inaugural Chief, CV Service Line will exhibit an appreciation for, collaboration, planning, communication, and will report directly to the Chief Clinical Officer. Bassett Healthcare Network has built a strong reputation for having an innovative and integrated health care system that provides comprehensive care to people living throughout central New York. Bassett Medical Center, the home-base of the network, is a 180-bed, acute care inpatient facility in Cooperstown, New York. Bassett Medical Center has been named one of America's best hospitals for heart care by Healthgrades®. U.S. News and World Report ranked Bassett as the number 1 hospital in Central New York and the 25th ranked hospital in New York State. The newly appointed Chief, CV Service Line will navigate physician collaboration, planning, recruiting, and will approve administrative policies and guidelines to ensure the quality and measured outcomes of cardiovascular programs are meeting the highest standards.

The ideal candidate will: be licensed or qualified to practice medicine in the state of New York, be board-certified in cardiology or a related area, have demonstrated a career progression that has prepared them for a position of this scope, complexity, and scale. A master's degree in health administration or business administration is a plus. Ten plus years of relevant health care leadership; prior leadership experience in cardiovascular services is preferred.
