

Dean, College of Medicine University of Kentucky

The University of Kentucky College of Medicine (UKCOM), a leading academic medical institution dedicated to providing superior education, research discovery, training and clinical service, invites nominations, inquiries and applications for the position of Dean, UK College of Medicine (Dean). Founded in 1960, the College produces highly qualified, caring physicians and the next generation of biomedical scientists to serve the people of Kentucky and the nation. Grants and contracts in UKCOM reached over $100 million last year, including more than $76.4 million in National Institutes of Health (NIH) funding. UKCOM seeks a dynamic academic leader with a national reputation to guide its growth and development as a regional and national leader in medical education, research, patient care and service.

University of Kentucky is a leading land-grant and public research university located in the beautiful Bluegrass region of central Kentucky. UKCOM is one of six colleges comprising the UK HealthCare (Dentistry, Health Sciences, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, and Public Health) and located on UK's main campus in Lexington, KY. The College comprises 509 medical students, 197 graduate biomedical science students, 685 medical residents, and 878 full-time faculty spread across 18 clinical and eight basic science departments. UK HealthCare is a preeminent fully integrated academic medical center that draws upon the clinical expertise of the faculty in all six colleges to advance patient care.

The Dean reports to the Provost for all educational and research activities and participates with other UK deans in the formation of academic policy and programs. The Dean also reports to the Executive Vice President Health Affairs as a member of the UK HealthCare executive leadership team.

Candidates must possess an M.D., M.D./Ph.D., Ph.D. or equivalent degree from an accredited Medical School. The successful candidate must also demonstrate broad progressive administrative leadership experience in an integrated academic medical center environment; national recognition for achievement in research, educational and clinical pursuits that would warrant appointment as a full professor.
