

Maternal Fetal Medicine

Division Chief and Faculty Maternal Fetal Medicine Specialist Needed | Southwest Metropolitan Academic Program with Fellowship Program | Lead and Grow an Established Division

Merritt Hawkins invites you to consider a Division Chief or Faculty Maternal Fetal Medicine Opportunity that provides a unique balance of practice fulfillment and quality of life. We are seeking a quality-focused Maternal Fetal Medicine specialists from either private practice or academic backgrounds.

Practice

- Leadership and faculty needed
- Lead and grow an established program
- 20% protected time for admin, teaching and scholarly activities
- New outpatient center
- Endowed professorship
- Opportunity to teach medical students, residents and fellows
- Currently consult only but option to do deliveries
- Strong pediatric sub-specialty support
- Opportunity to practice general MFM or specialize in genetics or diabetes
- Excellent salary and benefits
- Echmo available
- Seeking someone with either a strong academic or practice building background for Division Chief role
- Opportunity for clinical research but not required

Southwest Metro Area

This is a terrific place to live with countless outdoor activities available and true wilderness literally at your doorstep. Indeed, there are not many university cities of this size where you can be cross country skiing on a mountain top as the sun comes up and still get back in time for your morning clinic.

- A major international airport and professional sports
- Metro area of nearly 1 million people
- Easy access to hiking, fly fishing, skiing, and numerous golf courses
- Extensive bike trails and paths throughout the city
- 300 days of sunshine per year to enjoy them
- Major university with medical school and training programs
- Very low cost of living and diverse cultural activities
- Physician-friendly state with tort reform
- Live in the heart of downtown, up in the mountains or on several acres outside of town – all are within an easy commute to the clinic

Contact Ashlie Korb, Senior Search Consultant today to learn more at 866.406.0269. Please reference MFM – 9484.