

The University of South Dakota Sanford School of Medicine
Director of Evaluation and Assessment

The University of South Dakota Sanford School of Medicine is seeking to fill the position of Director of Evaluation and Assessment with an outstanding education specialist experienced in program evaluation and the assessment of learner achievement. The director of evaluation and assessment is responsible for leading the evaluation of critical aspects of the institution's recently reformed medical student curriculum; overseeing learner assessment; providing faculty development; and collaborating with the institution's medical education committee. Pursuit of scholarly activities in medical education is expected. The director of evaluation and assessment works with Janet Lindemann, MD, the dean of medical student education, and Mark Beard, MD, the assistant dean of medical student education. Qualifications: Doctorate in education or related field. Knowledge of program evaluation, learner assessment, statistical analysis, research methods, teaching and learning theory, and statistical and database software required. Experience in medical education is desirable. An equivalent combination of education and experience may be considered.

Application procedure: Applications should include a letter describing your background and experience in medical education and how you relate to each of the required and desired qualifications and/or experience above, and curriculum vitae. Submit application information online at <https://yourfuture.sdbor.edu> SSOM Director of Evaluation and Assessment Search. Applications will be reviewed beginning June 1, 2016 and continue until a suitable candidate is hired.

The University of South Dakota is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty, staff and administration.