

Division Chief

Division of Gastroenterology & Hepatology

The Department of Internal Medicine at Southern Illinois University School of Medicine seeks a Chief of the Division of Gastroenterology & Hepatology to direct and expand the Division's clinical, research, and teaching programs. Institutional commitment to academic gastroenterology exists. There is also the intent to develop a state of the art regional GI diagnostic and treatment center with affiliated hospital.

The successful candidate must have demonstrated administrative and leadership skills and a record of academic, scholarly accomplishment or administrative accomplishment in one or more areas including extramural grant funded research (clinical, translational or basic), high level scholarship, exemplary teaching prowess/curriculum development, and/or healthcare policy. An attractive compensation package will be offered commensurate with the accomplishments and skills of the successful candidate. It is absolutely essential for the successful candidate to keenly understand and manage the dynamic tensions between our major mission areas of teaching, research/scholarship and clinical practice. There will be ample opportunity to grow the Division in the direction of the new division chief's vision and plan.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine is located in Abraham Lincoln's historic hometown of Springfield, the capital city of Illinois, mid way between Chicago and St. Louis. The community has a well-developed economic base and is recognized as a leader in the fields of health care, services and education. SIU School of Medicine draws patients from a surrounding population of nearly 1.5 million people. Springfield, Il is a hidden gem in the Midwest offering an excellent quality of life, strong educational options, and very affordable living. Springfield is nestled between Chicago, Il (~ 3hours) and St. Louis, Mo. (~1.5 hours).

Minimum Qualifications: B/C in Internal Medicine is preferred. B/E or B/C in Gastroenterology. Licensure in State of Illinois or eligible for such. This position has been designated as security sensitive and employment is contingent upon the results of a background investigation. This position is sensitive to the needs of underrepresented minority populations.

For full consideration: Application for this position can be done directly through SIU School of Medicine at www.siumed.edu/jobs, click on Current Openings. You will need to create an account and complete the required documents in this system, along with uploading the necessary documentation.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer and provides equal employment and educational opportunities for all qualified persons without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, sexual orientation, protected veteran status or marital status in accordance with local, state and federal law.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/jyn7dq2x36>