

Section Chief – Section of Luminal Gastroenterology
University of Minnesota, Department of Internal Medicine -Division of Gastroenterology
Leadership Opportunity | Full University Appointment

Merritt Hawkins, the nation's premier academic search firm invites you to consider an academic research opportunity with one of the country's top medical schools where innovation doesn't just happen—it's cultivated, supported, and celebrated. We are seeking physician applicants who have completed three years of residency in Internal Medicine plus 3 years of fellowship in gastroenterology, and have a minimum of 5 years of experience in luminal gastroenterology to consider a position where the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities (APLU) has recognized as the most innovative public research university in the nation. Qualified candidates will enjoy the following:

- The GI Luminal section currently has 7 clinical faculty, including 3 outstanding Nurse Practitioners
- New 342,000 sq ft, 5-story freestanding clinic and surgery center, newly opened February 2016
- 3 state-of-the-art endoscopy units, both routine and advanced procedures available, equipped with the latest instruments with high-resolution imaging capabilities
- Excellent mentorship opportunities, both clinical and academic
- Growing volumes in Motility and IBD, for interested candidates
- Excellent annual salary-call for details

Minneapolis / Saint Paul

In this metropolitan area of over 3.8 million people, savor world class cuisine and culture, be part of an eclectic art and music scene, enjoy theater performances, run, bike, ski, skate, or stroll on miles of city trails, explore more than 300 parks, cheer for the home team in five major professional sports leagues, celebrate the variety of nightlife options, and become an active and engaged citizen. International travel is available at your fingertips with a major international airport in this city.

If you would be interested in discussing the position personally, please reply to jay.torio@merritthawkins.com with your contact information.

Jay Torio, MBA

Director, Department of Academics

Merritt Hawkins

an AMN Healthcare company

Office: (469)524-1689

Cell: (214)727-9505

Direct Fax: (844)332-7809

8840 Cypress Waters Blvd. Suite 300, Dallas, TX 75019

jay.torio@merrithawkins.com

www.merrithawkins.com

NYSE: AHS