

Comprehensive Ophthalmology / Director of University Security Clinic

Merritt Hawkins, the nation's leading academic physician recruitment firm, invites you to consider this clinical faculty opening located in one of the most sought after communities in the country. Be an integral faculty member for a world-class university, a thriving medical center and one of the country's leading teaching programs for Ophthalmology.

The University of Wisconsin - Madison is recognized as one of the premier institutions in the country, both for its educational programs and for its cutting-edge research, and The University Hospital & Clinics is frequently cited in publications listing the nation's best health care providers.

We are recruiting for one Ophthalmologist at the academic rank of Clinical Assistant, Associate or Full Professor, who will serve as the Director of the University Security Clinic. The preferred candidate will maintain an active medical and surgical practice in general/comprehensive ophthalmology, seeing patients at state-of-the-art, University-owned Ophthalmology Clinics, as well as at the University Hospital. The candidate will also be active in teaching and mentoring residents, fellows and medical students.

- Department has over 30 ophthalmologists with expertise in the full range of primary and subspecialty eye care as well as clinical optometrists, nurses and technical staff that are available to patients of all ages
- State-of-the-art equipment; access to cutting edge technology: femtosecond laser (1 of 4 in the entire state); Callisto System (1 of ~20 in the US)
- Shared call, high quality of life; practice is championed by a faculty of driven physicians, who have trained at leading centers throughout the country
- Opportunity to assume an established and robust practice – be as busy as you want to be from Day 1, without being overwhelmed
- Academic Resources with Private Practice Compensation

Both a state capital and a college town, Madison, Wisconsin provides a high quality of life, with excellent schools, a wide variety of arts and entertainment, and ready access to nature and recreation. Laid out on an isthmus surrounded by sparkling lakes, the city is known for its natural beauty, low crime rates and easy-to-find, budget-friendly healthy foods. With more than 120 distinct neighborhood associations working together to protect each other, safety is prevalent wherever you go. Residents move freely outdoors, riding the city's plentiful bike paths, cross-country skiing under the lights at the city's largest trail, or paddling kayaks.
