The Haitian Timoun Foundation (HTF), a US 501(c)(3) public charity, is a high impact, clearly focused, grass-roots movement that has been bringing hope, sustainability, and dignity to the children and people of Haiti for more than 15 years. We believe in education, economic development, community engagement, and local leadership.

For years HTF has been inviting and shepherding people on multiple immersion trips into our work in Haiti. After the January 2010 earthquake, the plight of the children in Jacmel and their sense of being forgotten got our attention. Out of that awareness the very first Fèt Bondye Bò Lanmè was conceived and has been an annual affair that gets better and better. The camp is envisioned and led by a true team of Haitian-American partners.

This year's camp - the sixth of its kind - included 30 U.S. participants, mainly high school and college age youth, and was led by a coalition of four HTF covenant partners from Texas, Nebraska and Ohio. There were 30 Haitian monitors and leaders from among our partners in Haiti. Together this team envisioned and led this camp in which 250 impoverished children from the Jacmel area participated. Every day the children were immersed in all sorts of intentional and fun activities that gave them vital life skills. Moreover, we fed them two meals a day and celebrated a grand feast with their parents and them on the final day.

This summer, HTF was excited to be able to extend the reach of its summer camp initiative by adding a second week of summer camp in partnership with Fonkoze Bank's Chemen Lavi Miyò (CLM) project in Mirebalais, Haiti. Through CLM, women-led families with three to seven children, who were once among the world's most desperately poor, are given the training, resources and empowerment to lift themselves out of extreme poverty. This week of camp, led by a coalition of 30 HTF partners from Georgia, Colorado, Nebraska and Minnesota touched 1,000 children of the women CLM serves in the Central Plateau region of Haiti. The theme of the week was "Timoun Se Lavni Demen (Children are the Future)." This camp was not just about letting these children know that we care about them; we also taught them useful life skills, such as personal hygiene, a necessity in a country that has had a cholera outbreak and where too many children die from preventable diseases. We also fed these children two meals each day, which is a real blessing to them. Most of them only get to eat a few times a week and are seriously malnourished.
